ARCHMODELS VOL.You will have to take a peak at both their articles: ( On one hand, it is a shared file (accounting), and on the other hand, it is a xml file for the client to read and perhaps even write if they know how to code in C# I can see you getting a detailed articles from David Badger's site, and he's a good writer... but I think that this could be squeezed into a single article, as he will be doing the summary anyways. I'll keep my eye out for one he has up as I reply to this and reply to you as well First, I found the answer to the question, "Can I import my accounting files/pdfs into ArcGIS Server 10.1 from a local drive?" I found an easy way to do this, but I think the solution would be different if you were trying to do this from a server. How are you trying to do it? I am trying to do this from the server and there is no easy way I know of. I can copy the file to a local drive and then go to map-server-01/arcgis/rest/services/accounting/start with ArcGIS Explorer. I can create a new service and then try to drag and drop the
